MAY FETE HELD IN COURT HOUSE PARK

CHARMING FETE, WITH Dainty DANCES GIVEN BY PRETTY MISSSES ATTRACTS LARGE AUDIENCE.

MISS DOTY AS QUEEN

Under a Throne Garlanded With Apple Blossoms and Spring Flowers She Proved a Veritable May Day Queen.

Queen Margaret, surrounded by her faithful court, held sway in the natural amphitheater at the upper end of the Court House Park this afternoon and while her loyal subjects went through the dainty steps of the many springtime dances, hundreds of spectators enjoyed the spectacle from places of vantage, enjoying the whole festivity as much as those who took part in it. The fete was under the auspices of the physical training department of the high school and over a hundred maidens, charmingly gowned in dainty costumes, went through the pretty figures taught by Miss Lucile Cuyler, instructor of the girls' classes. To her untiring work and the spirit of the occasion, was due the success of the second out-of-doors entertainment held.

Music for the various marches and dances was furnished by Miss Marion Weirick at the piano and James Laughlin with the drums and to the inspiring tunes the faithful subjects of the May Queen passed in review, and through the intricate dances of the afternoon's program. Queen Margaret, Miss Margaret Doty, was seated on a raised platform at the east end of the amphitheater and the program was carried out in the little square which forms a perfect stage to the west of the throne.

The program started at four and lasted until after six and was as follows:

Members of the Alumni Association of Local High School Meet.

Members of the Alumni association will hold a meeting at the school building this evening, to elect officers for the ensuing year and discuss the plans for the annual banquet which will be held June 11th. A large number of the Alumni are expected to be present as the committee arranging for the party are trying to make it the grandest affair in the history of the high school. That interest in these annual affairs is being revived is proven by the attendance of the banquet last year. The graduates of 1907 are planning to hold a class reunion this year also.

State Veterinarian Ellason Discovers Many Diseased Animals in Western Part of State

Herds in various western Wisconsin communities have been cleaned up during the last two weeks by State Veterinarian O. H. Ellason, who discovered many reactors in those he inspected on his trip. At the Dunn county asylum farm forty-six tubercular animals were disposed of. There is no reimbursement to the county for these. Private owners may receive compensation for slaughtered tubercular animals, but the state and counties may not. Other counties visited by the state veterinarian included Eau Claire and La Crosse.

MEN, HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO ECONOMIZE

Here Are Shoes of Fine Quality at a Price That Demonstrates Fully Rehberg's Value-giving Power.

These are shoes that are well made, gun metal, full welt sole, with heavy rope stitching, button or bluehorns, sizes 6 to 10, shoes that command and get a $2.50 price, are marked now at $1.45. It's a clear saving to you of $1.05 on each pair you buy. We plan on doing an extremely large business on these shoes tomorrow; otherwise we could not offer them at such a discount; 'twouldn't pay us, but by doing a large volume the otherwise small profit is brought up to represent a tidy sum and a good day's business. You ought to want to buy several pairs at $1.45. And you ought to come early. In addition to the above price we're going to offer another special shoe value for men: Men's tan, button or bluehorn shoes, regular $4.00 value, at $2.95. Well worth while, don't you think?

DAN McCARTY

Catcher Jimmy Block, of the Chicago White Sox, will be out of the game until around the middle of July as the result of an injury he sustained in a recent game with Boston. The first finger of his right hand is laid up for repairs. His loss will be no joke to the White Sox. He was hitting .300.

Harry Trondall, St. Louis' favorite pugilist, wants to fight Ad Wolcott and cap the lightweight championship. "I expect to arrange a match with Wolcott after the champion has finished with Joe Rivers July 4," Trondall said recently. "I think I can beat the titleholder in a twenty-five round contest."

Jack Johnson has started light training in Chicago, and will go to Las Vegas about June 1. Jack isn't taking this contest with Flynn as seriously. Although he admits Flynn to be the best of the hopes, he has predicted that the fight won't last over ten rounds.

Jack McDermott, American golf champion, has gone to England, where on June 21, 22, 24 and 25 he will contest with our British comrade for the open championship of Great Britain. The Britishers are said to be frightened over the possibility of an American's carrying away the honors.

Charley White, of Chicago, whose real name by the way isn't White at all, but Anichowitz, is a member of a fighting family which is making pugilistic history. His brother Jack recently, stacked up against that doughty little Mexican, Joe Rivers, and received the most humiliating setback of his career. Then there is another brother who is some shucks in the game. That is Billy, who fights under the name of Billy Wagner.

Charley likes to fight and admits it. Also he likes fighters. That's "the colonel" when he casts his first ball next fall.

We respectfully suggest to Dan Johnson that he make a trip over to Syria himself next winter, when he isn't busy at anything else. He might dig up a tablet that would tell him how the ancient Syrian horse ball presidents made honorable peace with hellish baseball players when the latter went on strike.

Harley Walter, the New York American's outfielder, is out of the game until the middle of August with a fractured leg.

Jim Flynn is said to be very confident that he'll beat Jack Johnson in July. If he is, he's probably the only man that's up on the fight game who clings to that opinion. Johnson has no equal as a ring general. He's cool and crafty. He feints and stops to perfection. He has a wonderful punch. And besides, he has a big advantage over Flynn both in height and in weight.

Experts say it won't be a fight, but a slaughter. They declare that Johnson could knock Flynn out in five rounds, or less, if he wanted to. Your Uncle Daniel ventures the prediction, however, that the fight will last at least ten rounds. The moving picture men wouldn't have it any other way.

MANY ENTRIES FOR MOTORCYCLE RACES

Some of Best Riders of Country Will Compete in Speed Contests Here on Decoration Day.

Entries are rapidly coming in from all over the country for the races to be held here Decoration day under the auspices of the Janesville Motorcycle club. The latest entry, from whom great things are expected, is Corrello of Chicago, who will ride an Indian, a single in one race and a twin in another. Although a young rider and practically unknown he has already begun a collection of trophies which promise to be increased rapidly if he keeps on at his present rate.

Several races in some of the biggest meets in the country have been taken by this rider, who is fast making a name for himself in racing circles.

Delegations from Madison, Milwaukee, Beloit, Monroe and many other cities in southern Wisconsin will be present on that day with their speeders and a large crowd is expected to witness the various contests which will be pulled off on the local mile track.

Three different motorcycle manufacturers will have machines here from the factories—Excelsior, Indian and Waverley. The first one will be ridden by DeSalvo, who will have an exhibition machine on which he will do some feats which will make the spectators sit up and take notice or he won't live up to his reputation. Corrello will represent the Indian factory. It is not known as yet who will be sent from the factory of the Waverley Manufacturing company, who make the P. E. M. machine, but they have signified their desire to enter a rider.

While on a trip to Milwaukee yesterday on business in connection with the races, H. E. McDaniel and A. W. Davidson learned that the Harley-Davidson people will be unable to send down a factory machine owing to the fact that their rider was out in Kansas participating in some races there and none of the other riders could enter at this time. Word has also been received from the Flanders factory this morning that their man-chine could not be represented this time in the races.

There will be three races in the 61-69 class and the rest will be of the 30-59 class machines, although riders of all classes will be seen on both of these types of machines. The term 30-59 gives the maximum size of cylinder in a single allowed in this race, having a cubic capacity of thirty and five-tenths or less. The two-cylinder machine is in the 1-100 class, having seven horsepower to the four of the single machine. This class may have a cylinder capacity of 61-69 cubic inches or less.

Three classes of riders will appear here at the races under the rules of the Federation of American Motorcyclists which will be in force at that time. There is the private owner who is an amateur never entered in a race or exhibition previous to these races. He must not be connected in any way with a manufacturer or dealer and must actually own his machine. A trade rider is one who is an amateur under the above requirements but who is connected with a dealer or manufacturer. The last class is the trade rider who has competed for cash prizes or in any other way broken the rules applicable to an amateur or trade rider.

Three Madison teams have been practicing for some time past for a tandem race which will be pulled off on the day of the meet. Besides having an excellent speed contest this race will be interesting in that it will show what machines can do in the speed line with an extra passenger.

Aside from the fact that these races will be some of the fastest speed contests pulled off in this part of the country the special features arranged for by the management will make it one of the most interesting for the spectators as well as for the racers themselves. The one hundred and fifty dollars worth of prizes offered by the Janesville Park association have proved a drawing card of the first magnitude, and Janesville will have the opportunity of seeing some of the best riders of the country here on Decoration day.

The Proverb Game.

The proverb game is a good one for a number of boys and girls to play. Upon the mantelpiece, tables and cabinets of the room slips of paper on which are written one-half only of all the proverbs that can be thought of should be arranged. When the guests come they are asked to fit the two halves of the proverbs together. To do so they will have to examine the slips of paper in the various parts of the room and get through their task with the least possible delay. Those who have at the end of a half an hour or an hour succeeded in piecing together correctly the greatest number of proverbs are the prize winners.

At Last.

When a man confidentially tells his wife that he considers the pretty woman across the way a fright it may be admitted that he has arrived at years of discretion.

The Sunset Gun.

Life is not victory, but battle. Be patient a little longer. By and by, in our hushed and waiting chambers, each in his turn, we shall hear the sunset gun.—Dr. Russell D. Hildreth.

Gaelic Alphabet.

Men familiar with the Gaelic tongue tell us that the alphabet of that ancient language is the most curious of all alphabets, in that nearly every letter is represented by a tree. The alphabet of today comprises eighteen letters; ancient Gaelic had seventeen. Now, as of old, all the letters with the exception of g, t and p, which stand for ivy, furze and heather, are called after trees. The Gaelic a b c now runs Ailn, baln, coll, dur, eagh, fearn, gath, huath, loch, lula, mhuin, nula, olv, poth, rule, sula, teine, ur, which is equivalent to saying: Elm, birch, hazel, oak, aspen, alder, ivy, whitehorn, law, rowan or guileam, vine, ash, spindle-tree, pine, alder, willow, furze, heath. In the ancient Gaelic alphabet the letter h (the huath, or whitehorn) does not exist. The alphabet is called the beith-luis-nuln, because b, l, n and not a, b, c, are its first three letters.

Man's Peculiar Ways.

It is a curious fact that a man who travels hundreds of miles and submits to many discomforts for the sake of getting a chance to whip a stream will indignantly refuse to beat a carpet when he might do it with little or no trouble right at home.

The Difference.

When a girl tells her girl friends that she is engaged they become gleefully excited. When a young man tells his bachelor friends that he is about to be married they want to fill him with wine so that he can forget it.

The Safest Helm.

The best and safest helm for a man is a good wife. Give her a quarter of a chance and she will steer him straight. But don't call her a hellum, as the sailors pronounce helm.—New York Press.

BAD CASE OF BLINDNESS.

It is an old saying that "there are none so blind as those who won't see," and it is sometimes difficult to account for defects responsible for willful mental blindness. The state of Wisconsin has a little coterie of republicans who have not yet discovered that La Follette captured the state, ten years ago, and is still in control.

About once a year these men are attacked with a spasm of ambition, and a hurry call is sent out over the state to rally the scattered forces and make a new attack upon the octopus. After the skirmish they run to cover with battered heads, and nothing else to show for the fight.

The lessons of the past seem to have made no impression, and today another call is out in the interests of E. L. Phillip, a state ticket in opposition to the present administration. Mr. Phillip believes the remedy of being somewhat of a politician and it seems hardly possible that he would lend his name to the scheme.

That the state needs a thorough housecleaning, and that the present administration should be turned out, bag and baggage, is not a debatable question, but the work can't be done by a few men whose political stock in trade is principally noted for antagonism.

The city of Milwaukee exercised political common-sense when party lines were ignored and a citizen's ticket redeemed the city from socialist rule. The same policy would produce the same satisfactory results in the state. The democratic party lacks organization and the old line republican party is in the same condition, but the state is suffering in so many ways from an overdose of reform, that issues are not lacking. Superintendent Cary has kept the state university in the line of the income tax is proving a pleasant reminder to an army of voters.

All that is needed to rally the dissatisfied forces is a party of protest under the direction of men who are free from political entanglements, which have created bitterness. The welfare of the state is more important than the success of any political party, and a campaign for the public good would be enthusiastically greeted, and loyally supported.

THE RICH MEN'S CAMPAIGN.

"While as yet there is no identification of men who possess very great wealth with the agitation now under way in favor of Taft's nomination, and while it is known that very little money has been secured in Wall Street for the expenses of the Taft campaign, several men of great wealth are identified with the Roosevelt campaign. Statement of individual expenditures for the Roosevelt primaries of New York city shows that George W. Perkins, Frank A. Munsey and A. B. Cochrane contributed each $15,000. The common estimate of the wealth of Mr. Perkins would, if true, make him the leader of this group. A common estimate of Mr. Munsey's wealth fixes the amount at not less than $30,000,000. The wealth of Mr. Cochrane, a carpet manufacturer who inherited his business and fortune, is commonly understood to be about $15,000,000. The most intimate friends of Mr. Perkins are confident that his wealth has been very greatly over-estimated, and for the past two years he has not been occupied in increasing it. These three men justify their support of Colonel Roosevelt in part because they profess to be convinced that Roosevelt's attitude toward modern "big business" is safer and wiser than the attitude of the present administration."

Much has been said about the financial backing of President Taft, and he has been accused of being a Wall Street candidate. The above statement from Holland, in the Wall Street Journal, explodes this theory and indicates that Roosevelt is not so unpopular at the great money center as is generally supposed.

While the expresident was erratic, during his administration, and stirred up a great deal of unrest, yet the business of the country prospered. President Taft was confronted with a lot of unfinished work, and in trying to solve some of the problems, from a purely legal standpoint, has made many enemies.

Colonel Roosevelt possessed the happy faculty of making law or ignoring it, as best suited his convenience, and no questions were asked because of the popularity of the man. President Taft is cast in a different mold. His legal mind and legal training admits of but one solution to any problem, and his lawyer cabinet is a unit, on all propositions.

Law in the abstract is a cold proposition, and while it commands respect, it fails to appeal to the human interest side of humanity, and this is always the approachable side. Colonel Roosevelt has always been close to the heart of the people because he is approachable and they regard him as one of them. Whatever dignity he possesses is not the dignity of the law. The plea of human rights, as he interprets the proposition, is of greater moment than our decisions, and so he continues to be popular with the masses.

The men of money back of him, in the campaign, have learned by observation that he is more flexible than the law, and so they fear him less than his rival, who believes in interpreting and executing the law to the letter.

CHANGING MINDS.

"They change their minds mightily suddenly in Wall Street sometimes. A leading financier who has been a rabid anti-Roosevelt man, and who at the mention of the Colonel's name would froth at the mouth, now tells his friends: 'They might go further and fare worse than to nominate and elect Roosevelt. He isn't so bad after all. For one thing he has always "stayed hitched" on the tariff. The record fails to show where he ever hurt big business. He has talked loud and scared a lot of timid folk, but where did he actually inflict damage? On the other hand he has helped business, in the long run. If he should reach the White House again every stock on the list ought to boom. I believe we would see the greatest upward development in our history. It would be Roosevelt's pride and glory to lead the country to epoch-making heights and to establish the United States in the very front rank of the commercial and military nations of the earth. He would consider that to be his monument.'"

This sentiment from an exchange is likely to be a growing sentiment, if Roosevelt secures the nomination. The people know him and know what to expect of him.

POPULAR CRITICISM.

"This constant bickering between Taft and Roosevelt is disgusting to say the least," said a man of the street looking up from his paper. "I think that the President, instead of answering the Colonel, and thereby adding fuel to the fire, would maintain his dignity if he imitated the example followed by a boy I heard of. It seems that two youngsters were quarrelling; one was pouring forth a volume of vituperation while the other leaned against a fence and contemplated him. When the flow of epithets had ceased for want of language he said: 'Are you through?' 'Yes,' answered the other. 'You ain't got anything more to say?' 'No!' 'Well, all them things you called me you is.'"

The writer of this paragraph expresses popular criticism. A lady came into the office the other day and said: "If Taft is our President, why isn't he in Washington attending to business?" The unassuming light in which he is engaged has disgusted many of his friends, and added nothing to his political strength. He could well afford to ignore the attitude of his rival. There are times when "Silence is golden."

The election of Colonel Roosevelt to a third term means the establishment of a personal party to succeed the republican organization. It may mean more than that, for if he is regarded as the only man capable of serving the nation today, as the chief executive, what of the future? There is only a step between the third term and the fourth, and not very much of a chasm between that and monarchical rule. There are some things which are worse than temporary party defeat, if that should happen.

The much-discussed amusement clause in the Methodist discipline has been retained by the vote of the general conference, now in session at Minneapolis, and the church will continue to be handicapped by a dead-letter law which it does not attempt to enforce. The time will come when the intelligence of the church will demand that individual conscience be the guide on questions of amusement.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By Roy K. Moulton.

The Umps.

No emperor of ancient Rome was ever half so great as the monarch that the world has beckoned with of late. His subjects stand in anxious awe, both terror struck and dumb. To learn their fate as signalled by the wiggle of his thumb. Imperturbable and absolute he reigns, a power supreme. Above Napoleon's ideas and Nero's fondest dream. The destiny of nations rests upon his mighty frame. And medieval despots were, compared with him, quite tame. Upon a pedestal he stands until, with temper quick, The blancher angels take a hand and someone leaves a brick.

Observe his fine court language and his diplomatic style: "G'wan, you've flint head, bush league dsh, you're out a good long mile." Take notice of the dignity which marks his every word. "Back to the bench. You've got a nerve dat surely is a bird." Just listen to his polished tone as smooth as velvet's nap. "Brush by, you're imitation or I'll scramble up your map." Mark well the great and haughty mien as pearls of wisdom drop: "Play ball and stuff that phoney talk or else I'll flag de cop."

Decisions on affairs of state from this arbiter flow. Until, quite unexpected, some pop bottle lays him low. The table's protests don't disturb the tenor of his way. He's quite impervious to all his blancher critics say. But like the old Egyptian kings they toll about in rhyme. He does not reign forever, but must pay tribute to the Time. He starts out in a major league and slowly he works down back game, the awe of some tank town. His victims all yell "Rabbor" and make personal remarks. Just like were heard long years ago around the city parks. He's in the bad all his stormy life and when the end is nigh, He knows he's earned his reward, a good safe place on high.

Our Private Unabridged.

Savant—A man who cries microbes when there are no microbes. Scandal—Something probably not true. Schmeer—A vessel that can operate only in wet countries. Sculptor—One who sculps, viz: Indian. Seclusion—Something that ex-vice-presidents have thrust upon them. Seeds—Nature fakes that do not deliver the goods. (See your own garden). Sorious—Solemn, grave and pesadistic. (See musical comedy). Sham—Something that pillows need to wear in the daytime. Sharpshooter—A gun with a bayonet on it. Sin—What everybody does excepting themselves. Simian—A monkey, i. e., one who tries to find a leak in a gas pipe with a lighted match; a gentleman who wears a blue derby.

Our Hero Contest.

A hero is a man who takes a lodge brother home at 2 o'clock in the morning, rings the bell and hands the brother over to the wife instead of leaning him up against the door, ringing the bell and running away.

ENGINEER IN CHARGE, OF SURVEY IN CITY

Mr. H. E. Reeves Arrived From Sterling via Auto Last Evening—Unloaded Equipment From Car Today.

Engineer H. E. Reeves, in charge of the government survey of the Rock river, to be started at this city, arrived here from Sterling, Ill., in his automobile, early last evening. He was accompanied by his wife and child, and Mr. Krach, a member of the survey party. They left Sterling at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and followed the course of the river, setting up water gauges at several points.

Ten of the twenty-five men who will be engaged in the survey have arrived here and more are expected Monday. A car containing four skins and tools was shipped to a skid near the river this afternoon and unloaded. The camp equipment has not been shipped as the party will have their headquarters in this city for some time.

The surveying party will be divided into four different sections or from four to eight members. One will work on the triangulation system, giving horizontal control, another on levelling, to secure vertical control, the third party on topography, and the fourth on hydrography. The topographic party will note and record all details between high water levels, such as buildings and other improvements and obtain the names of all riparian owners. The hydrographic party will make soundings and borings in the river bed. Soundings will be taken on lines five hundred feet apart or closer, and at fifty foot intervals on the line.

The triangulation party will be put to work at once and the topographic section soon afterward. The heads of all the parties are now here but do not have enough assistance to start work. The taking of observations will begin at the upper dam in this city, but this is no indication of any intent to bring the channel up to that point.

Engineer Reeves expects to complete the survey of the Rock river to Sterling in from five to six months, but several months more will be needed to draw maps, compile data, and make deductions from them for the purpose of a report to the government. Maps will be made on a scale of 400 feet to the inch, which necessitates the drawing of a very large number. Mr. Reeves will also collect information as to the amount of traffic that might use the river if improved, the public demand for improvement, and the necessity of additional dams to obtain a sufficient depth of water are among the questions to be considered, together with the question that might be caused by them. If the stream is made navigable bridges will have to provide draws or give twelve feet clearance.

THREE KNIGHTS CHOSEN TO GO TO WASHINGTON.

W. B. Sullivan, Frank McCaffery and E. J. Murphy to Attend Unveiling of Columbus Monument.

W. B. Sullivan, Frank McCaffery, and E. J. Murphy were chosen by Carroll Council, Knights of Columbus last evening, to represent the Council at the unveiling ceremonies of the Columbus Memorial at Washington on June 8. Chances were sold for a small sum and the amount derived from the sale will defray the entire expense of sending the representatives to the national capital. If those chosen are unable to go, their places will be taken by John Q. Timmons, William A. Nolan and William Langdon, the alternates named. The local representatives will leave Chicago on the night of June 6, arriving in Washington the following evening. Fifty thousand Knights are expected to be present on this occasion and the army and navy will take part in the ceremonies. President Taft will give an address of welcome.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, May 24.—Mrs. Peter Brodhead, who has been in Mercy hospital, Janesville, convalescing from an operation, was able to return home Thursday. She is getting along nicely. Mrs. Mina Patterson of Detroit was the guest of Brodhead friends a day or two and returned home Thursday. Mesdames J. Bush and Eliza McCaffery were visitors in Janesville Thursday.

Mrs. J. L. Roderick and daughter, Mrs. C. H. Houghton, went to Monroe Thursday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Clifford and family. Le Roy Stabler and Link Allen went to Chicago Thursday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Morde Hartman arrived here Wednesday from Key West, Fla., remaining over night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Hartman. They left Thursday morning for Minneapolis, Minn., where Mr. Hartman has a government position. While at Key West he had a position on the Lawlor railway.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy St. John spent Thursday with Albany friends. Although somewhat late, the usual ceremony of corn is now about planted, some few farmers, perhaps, having yet to finish. Cold, damp weather has delayed this part of farm work a great deal. The warm weather of the past few days has been of much benefit.

Considerable complaint is heard from tobacco growers regarding the plants in the seed beds because of wet rot. In many beds the plants are small and yellow. The warm weather will aid this industry very much.

Fred Stephens will soon commence work toward the erection of his new residence on Thomas street.

Free demonstration of the fuel and labor-saving Triple Trick Heater at Gas Co. office, beginning Saturday.

Long-Lived Microbe. The microbes found will be confirmed in his finalness who learns that some hardy microbes can live over two centuries on the land and longer yet in the water.

BANQUET IS GIVEN TO SENIOR MEMBERS

Miss Edith Bowen, Critic of Laurean Society, Was Also Guest of Honor at Delightful Function.

Members of the Laurean Literary society of the high school entertained at a banquet in the domestic science rooms of the school last evening in honor of their critic, Miss Edith Bowen, and the senior members of the society who will graduate in June.

The hall was most attractive in decorations of pink and white and Laurean banners were prominently displayed. The tables were made attractive with flowers and ferns and at each corner was a hand-drawn place card and program of quiet design. At the senior places were small figures dressed in cap and gown carrying small diplomas tied with the society colors. At the critic's place was a small figure of a bride. The menu was as follows:

Veal Loaf Creamed Potatoes
Sandwiches Olives
Chocolate
Fruit Salad
Ice Cream Cakes
Candy
Salted Nuts

The program of the evening had been carefully prepared and each number was received with applause. There were many sly thrusts at the critic and the seniors but at the same time genuine regret was expressed that the society was to suffer the loss of their active work and interest in the future. The program was as follows:

Toastmaster..... Evelyn Kavolage
Address of Welcome..... Olive Reynolds
Response..... Florence Hogboom
History of Laurean Seniors.....
..... Alta Elfeld
Toast to Laurean Seniors.....
..... Lucile Hyde
Toast to Laurean..... Margaret Doty

Remarks..... Miss Bowen

OSBORN PRESENTED CHARM BY KNIGHTS

Members of Janesville Commandery No. 2 Knights Templars Honor Commander With Present.

At the meeting of Janesville Commandery No. 2 Knights Templars at the Lincoln hall last evening, Commander M. R. Osborn was given a surprise when the Sir Knights presented him with a beautiful thirty-second degree charm. Mr. Osborn has been zealous in his work for the knighthood throughout the past year and has done much to give the local commandery a much higher standing in the state than it had heretofore attained. It was in recognition of these services for their order that the Sir Knights bestowed a token of their regard.

Following the ceremonies of presentation of the charm the Sir Knights enjoyed an excellent banquet served in a beautifully decorated banquet room.

The charm is a very beautiful and valuable present from the commandery. On one side it bears the symbols of the Knights Templars and the logo emblem, and on the other side is a double eagle, in gold the emblem of the commandery, with a diamond in the center. This double eagle raises on a hinge and underneath is a keystone, the emblem of the chapter. The presentation speech was made by A. E. Matheson.

JOHN GOLLNER IS TO LIVE IN STUTTGART

Writes Friends in Germany He is Located There Permanently—Has Been Ill.

John Gollner, for many years a resident of Janesville and connected with the Parker Pen Company, who left for Europe to make his future home some months ago, has written friends that he is now located in Stuttgart, Germany. He has been quite ill since his arrival in Europe but reports he is much better. Mr. Gollner does not write what line of work he has taken up. Previous to coming to this country Mr. Gollner was editor of a newspaper in Sorbia and was exiled from that country owing to his writings. The edict of exile however has long since been removed.

SCHIMMEL APPEALS TO CIRCUIT COURT

Town of Turtle Man Convicted of Assault Will Carry Case up—Fined $15 and Costs.

Charles W. Schimmel of the town of Turtle, who was found guilty by a jury Wednesday afternoon of committing an assault upon C. J. Chapman on May 13, was sentenced by Judge Charles P. Field this afternoon to pay a fine of $15 and the costs, which amounted to $63.38 or in default to spend sixty days in jail. Schimmel's attorney J. J. Cunningham, at once moved to appeal the case to the Circuit Court.

McCallister's Closing Argument.

Deputy Prosecutor Fred McCallister believes in paraphrasing the Scriptures to his purpose. He was making the closing argument before a jury in criminal court several days ago in the case of the state against two young men who were on trial for grand larceny. The deputy prosecutor urged the jury to send the alleged culprits to the state reformatory at Jeffersonville. He closed his speech by saying: "At Jeffersonville there are many mansions and the state has prepared a place for these young men there. If it were not so I would have told you." The young men were sent to the reformatory.—Indianapolis News.

LEAP YEAR WEDDING TO END IN DIVORCE?

Cyphrian Coran, Eighty Year Old Groom of Five Months, Refuses to Pay Bride's Debts.

Leap year proposals may not always end happily even when the parties agree on marriage. If the experience of the first Janesville couple to profit by the leap year custom in 1912 may be taken as any criterion, at any rate divorce proceedings may be the outcome of a notice given out by Cyphrian Coran that he would not be responsible for the debts contracted by his wife, a bride of scarcely five months.

Cyphrian Coran and Mrs. Hannah Brinker were married in Rockford on January 4th. Current rumor had it, and reports from Rockford substantiated the same, that it was a leap year affair and that the eighty year old groom allowed his bride some years his junior to take the initiative in the matter even to the securing of a marriage license and finding the officiating clergyman.

It is evident that money matters are now the cause of family dissension. All that the aged groom would say of the matter was, "She's not going to get any more of my money," which might indicate that his bride carried the matter of proposal, appropriating to herself more of her husband's worldly goods than he was willing to part with.

Whether the trouble will end in the divorce court is not known, but the trouble sounds a note of warning as to leap year marriages. At least that is one inference.

CITY WILL DISPOSE OF OLD RESIDENCE

To Advertise for Bids on Dwelling at Corner of North Jackson and Wall Streets—Council Meets.

Bids for the sale of the old dwelling house on city property at the northwest corner of North Jackson and Wall streets will be advertised for as the result of a resolution adopted by the Council at its meeting this afternoon. The building is in such a dilapidated condition that it will not pay to repair it and the council wishes to have it moved off the lot. It is now occupied by a tenant. The barn on the property will be preserved.

The position of Carl Holse to transfer his saloon license for 115 E. Milwaukee street to William Lawver was granted and the bond of Mr. Lawver accepted. A sewer was ordered installed in the alley running to the rear of the Y. M. C. A. building and the Benjamin & Lane bakery, which was recently ordered paved with brick. New parts for the stone crusher to replace those that are worn out were received today and hauled out to be fitted in place.

SEEK RELATIVES OF LATE THOMAS SMITH

Auditor's Office of Treasury Department Has Made Inquiry for Mrs. Mary A. Smith.

Officials of the auditor's office in the Treasury department at Washington are seeking to learn the whereabouts of Mrs. Mary A. Smith, widow of the late Thomas Smith, or in the case of Mrs. Smith's demise, the next of kin to Mr. Smith, who formerly resided in the town of Harmony. Mr. Smith was a soldier in the Civil War, enlisting in the Civil War in Company G, Sixth regiment, Wisconsin Veteran Volunteers, one of the regiments of the old Iron Brigade. A letter addressed to the postmaster at Harmony has been received at the local post office, and as there is no post office in the town of Harmony, Postmaster C. L. Valentine of this city has taken charge of it. He has made inquiries with regard to Mrs. Smith's present address, but thus far has been unable to discover anyone who knows anything concerning her. The matter evidently has something to do with regard to a pension.

FORUM DEBATING SOCIETY HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET.

This evening at 6:30 the members of the Forum Literary society will hold their annual banquet at the Cathedral rooms. This banquet to night will end the season of the society. A very excellent program has been arranged. The following people will respond:

Toastmaster..... Stanley Judd
Toast to the Ladies..... Bettina Kelly
Response..... Marion Jenkins
The Forum History..... Stanley Metcalf
The Remarks..... Prof. D. L. McMurray
The Forum Prophecy..... Glenn McArthur
The Forum Party News..... Fred Cummings

The menu has been left in charge of Mrs. Bowdman and an excellent repast has been arranged. The following is the menu:

Plum Pudding
Jollied Chicken
Creamed Neuf Patees
Olives
Salad
Ice Cream A La Mode
Chocolate Cake
Wafers
Cakes
Candies

For the Alimony Brigade.

"There's a lot of talk in the papers," said Mr. Dunley, "about the necessity for uniform divorce laws. Wonder what they mean by that?" "Probably," suggested Mrs. Dunley, "it's to compel divorced people to wear a uniform so other folks can recognize 'em."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Care for Rubbers.

To prevent the heel plates of children's shoes wearing and cutting through their rubbers glue pieces of felt or thick flannel in the heels where the wear comes. The overshoes will last much longer.

MAY BE SKELETON IN ROYAL CLOSET

King and Queen of Belgium.

King and Queen of Belgium, Brussels, May 23.—In the reign of the new king of the Belgians—King Albert—to bristle with scrapes and scandals as did the reign of the present monarch's uncle, Leopold? During the forty years' reign of Leopold there never was a time when stories of the old king's escapades were not whizzed in the drawingrooms of Europe. He finally died, and his nephew Albert ascended the throne. Albert has ever been regarded as a man of high moral character.

Now mystifying reports concerning a murder at court in which the king and queen were involved, are gaining wide publicity. The affair has created a sensation and public opinion is thoroughly wrought up. The story has been denounced officially as untrue. According to the story, at a recent garden party at Lachen the queen surprised the king in the company of a lady of the chamber and shot the woman with a revolver.

The king's private secretary has given out a statement in which he says:

"Of course the stories are quite unfounded. Although, because of my position, I cannot be considered an altogether impartial witness, I can emphatically declare that the happiness of the royal family never has been disturbed and that the king and queen are a most united couple."

King Albert is thirty-seven years old and in the two and a half years he has been on the throne he has been devoted to his kingdom and his family. He married Elisabeth, a Bavarian duchess, eleven years ago. She has been conspicuous for charitable work and the Belgian idolizer her. There are three children. Crown Prince Leopold, Duke of Brabant, who is in his eleventh year, Prince Charles Count of Flanders, nine and Princess Marie Jose, not six.

FUNERAL OF PIONEER WOMAN HELD TODAY

Last Services Conducted for Mrs. Cornelia Maria Ruger Pease at Home This Afternoon.

The remains of Mrs. Cornelia Maria Ruger Pease, a pioneer resident of this city, and eldest daughter of the late Rev. Thomas Jefferson Ruger, an early day clergyman, were held to rest in Oak Hill cemetery this afternoon after the Rev. Frank John McKinney had read the service at the home, 323 Prospect avenue. A large number of friends of the deceased and her family attended the funeral and accompanied the remains to the cemetery where last rites were held at the grave. Among those from out of the city who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. John Norcross of Chicago.

Mrs. Mary B. Baker. Funeral services for Mrs. Mary B. Baker, who died early Thursday morning, will be conducted at the home, 212 South Bluff street, at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon by the Rev. T. D. Williams, pastor of the Carroll Methodist church. Interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery, where the remains of Mr. Baker are buried.

Angry Adjectives. It was not a young woman novelist, but Charles Sumner, of whom the late E. L. Godkin, the New York editor, said: "He works his adjectives so hard that if they ever catch him alone they will murder him."—Youth's Companion.

Rev. Dr. M. A. Mathews.

A commanding figure at the Presbyterian General Assembly now in session at Louisville, Ky., is Rev. Dr. Mark Mathews, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Seattle, Washington. He was chosen moderator of the assembly this year on the first ballot, his nearest competitor being President James G. McClure, of the McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago. Dr. Mathews received 415 votes, while Dr. McClure received 157.

Dr. Mathews, who is known as the "Tall Pine of the Midwest," is six feet four inches tall and weighs less than 150 pounds.

LINK AND PIN IMPROVED SIGNALS AT BAD CROSSINGS

Best Type of Warning Signals Installed at Dangerous Grade Crossings by Order of Commission.

A new danger signal for railroad crossings which rings an electric bell during the daytime and illuminates a danger sign at night, is being installed on a number of the dangerous crossings in the state, either voluntarily by the railroads or by order of the state railroad commission. The introduction of one of these devices at railroad crossings costs the company about $75.

Although numerous railroad crossings have been the subject of railroad commission orders for improvement for the past several years, the commission's engineers and the members of the commission themselves are exerting unusual activity to find all the dangerous crossings in the state in order to lessen accidents from this cause. As the members of the commission and its employees travel about the state, notations are made of practically all dangerous crossings and are immediately investigated by the commission's engineers. The town authorities are then notified of the crossing conditions if dangerous and are requested to take the matter up with the railroad company for improvement.

In most cases, however, the town board applies to the railroad commission direct for assistance. In a large number of cases the railway companies install danger signals with further action by the commission. In a number of cases, however, a plan of locating the danger is suggested by the company and is made the subject of a formal hearing near the dangerous crossing. The commission's engineers estimate that no less than fifty dangerous crossings will be practically eliminated in the state this year.

On the Northern division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway from Milwaukee to Harlow, and on the new North-Western line from Milwaukee through Clyman to Sparta, the new danger signal that illuminates the sign spelling the word "danger" is being installed. The commission in many of the new orders which it is issuing is asking that this new danger signal be erected.

This is a record-breaking train for length.

INTERURBAN OPENS HARLEM PARK WITH HARLEM PARK WITH

Many New Added Features—Official Opening on Saturday of This Week.

Harlem park, near Rockford, which is controlled by the Rockford Interurban company, is to be formally opened for the present season tomorrow, weather permitting. The changes and improvements that have been made in the popular amusement resort will astonish those who only remember it as it was last season. It will be a greater and more attractive Harlem Park, and a considerable sum has been expended to make it the best park in Illinois outside of Chicago. Its location on the bank of the beautiful Rock river, its great grove of trees and all its natural surroundings makes this park a very paradise for the tired city dwellers in search of an afternoon or evening's outing out under the sky.

The main new attraction this year will be a free moving picture show every afternoon and evening in the big auditorium. On Sundays and holidays special feature acts, vaudeville augmented by a full orchestra will add to the strength of this free feature.

Without doubt the most important new attraction is a $10,000 new giant coaster which is the largest ride outside of Chicago in this part of the country. In fact there is only one in Chicago which is larger, and none that will be more sensational or thrilling by reason of their dips and long inclines. From the top of this slide, which overlooks the highest trees in the park, one may obtain a bird's-eye view of Rockford and the surrounding country. People have been watching the erection of this ride for the past month, and are anxiously awaiting the opening date of the park when they may have an opportunity to test the thrills experienced on such a riding device.

A children's play grounds will be provided so that while the older people are preparing picnic lunches, the children may play around on the various swings and other devices usually found in such places, or make mud pies, etc., in the sand beds. A bus, ball diamond has been provided for lodges and picnic parties which should be a move to increase the popularity of the Rockford show spot.

Considering these and the many other new features and attractions of Harlem park, this year, Saturday, May 25th, should see the biggest opening crowd the park has ever experienced, weather permitting, and the management as well as the Rockford and Interurban Railway company are looking for one of the biggest crowds on Sunday to this resort that they have ever handled.

The barometric depression that caused the showery and muggy weather of the past few days in this vicinity has moved on eastward to the St. Lawrence valley. High atmosphere pressures prevail in the North.

A barometric depression in the Canadian Northwest is attended in this vicinity the weather will be fair tonight and Saturday. It is likely to be a little cooler in the morning.

Cloudiness along the Pacific slope, west, and the South and fair weather prevails in those regions as a consequence.

Considerable damage was done by storm last night.

Caused Washout on St. Paul Road West of Calumet and Small Cyclone Near Darlington.

Considerable damage on the St. Paul railroad was done last night by the storm which struck this portion of the country. West of Calumet, between Calumet and Plattville, a portion of the tracks of the Milwaukee Point division of the St. Paul road were washed out, completely blocking all traffic on that line for some time.

Train No. 7, leaving here about seven o'clock, was unable to complete its trip, until after two large crews of Italian laborers had completed the work of repairing the tracks, and No. 6 was delayed in arriving this morning. At West Darlington it is reported the storm assumed the proportions of a small cyclone, blowing down a number of trees and doing a large amount of damage.

Because the inspectors on engine 843 failed to make connections with the boiler check, the engine had to be killed at Orfordville yesterday and was towed back to Janesville for repairs.

Because of the heavy amount of business on the way freight at present, four men have been added at the transfer station.

Engine 1158 left the track yesterday. Considerable damage was done and the engine has been housed for repairs.

Engineer Dowle and Fireman McDougall with engine 1400 went on a work train on the new line this morning.

Drakeham Dan Kelly, who has been on passenger runs on the Racine & Northwestern division has gone into the chicken business.

Engineer Allen and Conductor Brennan arrived on an extra from the east with ninety-four cars today.

Mr. Stephen Baker and Mrs. Albert are enjoying a visit from an aunt and cousin, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Curran of Janesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Murphy spent a day at Storytown this week.

There is to be a social at the church in Union next Friday night, given by the Union Literary society. Brooklyn band will furnish the music and there is an interesting program prepared for the occasion.

Mrs. Fred Winston and Mrs. Robt. Hartley have returned from Janesville, where they attended the Congregational convention.

Mrs. Sam Shaver who has been ill for the past three weeks, rode out Wednesday for the first time.

Mrs. Edna Higelow and Mable Alsup were down from Brooklyn to attend the Choral Club concert.

Mrs. F. E. Colony and Mrs. O. C. Colony were Lake Geneva visitors Thursday.

Mrs. Emily Logan Lenz a former seminary teacher, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gaddis.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE FOLLY OF WEATHER SLAVERY.

WHICHEVER way the wind doth blow
Some heart is glad to have it blow;
So blow it west or blow it west,
The wind that blows that wind is best."

"You," said my neighbor, "I've been just as blue as can be all day. Anything the matter? Oh, no. It's just the weather. I'm always blue when it rains like this for two or three days in succession. I'll be all right when the sun comes out, but just now I'm so depressed I don't know what to do. That's the way with all our family. My sister laments herself almost sick if we have two or three bad days, and my mother was just so. We are all very sensitive to weather."

My neighbor concluded this speech with an air of self-approval as unimpeachable as it was inexplicable. What possible cause for pride is there to be found in the fact that one is upset by such a trifle as a little rain?

And yet I know many people who are similarly depressed and thrown off their poise by the accident of bad weather. I think they are both unfortunate and foolish. Don't you?

Unfortunately, because had weather meant come; "some days must be dark and dreary," and it is too bad to add that cause for depression to the numerous legitimate causes that crowd the ordinary life.

Unhappily, because such a tendency can be controlled. Comes a second rainy, drizzly day right on the heels of the first rainy, drizzly day. (I do not think many people mind one rainy day. If it comes after a period of sunshine, it may even have a restful charm. It is the second successive bad day that brings the blues) and you say mournfully: "Oh, dear, I am sorry it is raining. Rainy weather always makes me so blue," and straightway you justify your expectations of yourself by feeling blue.

Just as people who expect to be seasick and who go down into stuffy cabins and make all the odious preparations usually are seasick. But suppose you did not allow yourself to think anything about the matter beyond the cheerful thought that it is likely to clear soon, and that anyhow the rain is doing the crops and the flowers much good. Suppose you brought up all the cheerful things you had in your mind's treasure; said something unusually pleasant to someone; hummed a little song about your work; and amused yourself by trying to see how well and how swiftly you could do that work; and then, when your tasks were done, suppose you read some especially absorbing book or made a call on some particularly interesting person, or even went out for a splendid invigorating walk right in the rain, do you think you could be blue very long?

Try it sometime. Who knows but that the very next rainy day you will be able to greet and dispel the gloom with our optimistic poet's philosophy:

"It aint no use to grumble and complain,
It's just as cheap and easy to rejoice;
When God sorts out the weather and sends rain,
Why rain's my choice."
—James Whitcomb Riley.

Oh, if the berry that stains my lips
Could teach me the woodland chat,
Henceforth would I by my scholarship
And Theology doff the hat.

A FEW SALAD OR LUNCHEON ROLLS.

Bread should have a sweet, nutty flavor, never a flavor of yeast. The quick breads which may be made in three to five hours are all right for an emergency, but for every day living the better bread is made with a small quantity of yeast.

Swedish Rolls.—Take, a pint. of scalded milk, a cake of compressed yeast or half a cup of the liquid yeast, half a cup of luke warm water, three eggs, a half cup of butter, a half cup of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt. Make a sponge and prepare the dough as in all bread mixtures made with yeast. When light, roll into a sheet a fourth of an inch thick, brush with butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and currants; roll up like a jelly roll, cut in rounds and set on end, side by side, in a pan; when light bake about half an hour. When baked brush with egg and milk, or sugar and milk and return to the oven to brown.

Tomato Biscuits.—Roll a light dough made like French bread, of a cup of warm water, a half a yeast cake, a half teaspoonful of salt, and four cups of flour. Use two cups of the flour to make the dough and half of the water. Knead well and shape in a small ball. Make two cuts in the top about a fourth of an inch deep, then place the ball in a small sauce pan of tepid water, cut side up. In a few minutes the ball will begin to swell and float on the top of the water. When quite light, remove it with a skimmer to a bowl containing the salt and the rest of the water. Stir in enough flour to make a dough stiff enough to knead, nearly two cups, and let stand in a warm place until light. Roll out the dough in a sheet half an inch thick, cut in four-inch squares, brush the corners with cold water, then fold them over to meet in the center; press the corners down upon the dough below. Arrange in a baking pan so that they will just touch each other, brush with melted butter; when risen to double in bulk brush again with butter and bake.

German Coffee Cake.—Soften a yeast cake (compressed) in a fourth of a cup of water; add two cups of scalded milk, cooled, and flour to make a batter. When light add four eggs beaten without separating, one cup of melted butter, one cup of sugar, the juice and rind of a lemon, a teaspoonful of salt. Knead and when light roll in a sheet, butter and sprinkle with almonds chopped fine.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

COMPLETE RATION FOR STUDENT.

A student asks advice as to the value of entire wheat bread and olive oil as a complete ration for one doing strenuous study. Wheat contains all the elements of nutrition in nearly perfect proportion for the adult, except fat, which would be supplied by the oil, a pound and a half of bread and two ounces of olive oil being sufficient for one doing average physical and mental work. It is generally understood that entire-cereal bread and butter constitute a perfect ration, and fresh olive oil is not inferior to butter, but there is an objection to the mixing of fat with starches and proteids from the fact that it prevents the access of the digestive juices in mouth and stomach, so the ration is not improved by adding olive oil, although in the case mentioned the existence of constipation makes the use of olive oil beneficial, but it should be taken separately for the best results. It has been repeatedly demonstrated that a better balanced ration is supplied by wheat or corn than in the ordinary random diet, so that one who wishes to adopt such a diet, for health, efficiency or economy—and these are intimately associated—need not hesitate to do so, with the assurance of improvement in every respect. Of course, the bread should not be fresh, and it should be thoroughly masticated.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Art of Remaining Young.

With the passing of the years, most of us believe that we must grow old. And by growing old we mean the coming of decrepitude to the physical body, and perhaps to the mind. Our limbs get stiff; our joints creak; our slugs fall; possibly our hearing also. The mind grows less keen, and loses its interest in many things. This is the condition to which many look forward with resignation, believing it is inevitable.

But here and there are shining examples of those who, though they have reached the age when such life is supposed to descend upon them, show no such condition either of mind or body. They are alert, active, both physically and mentally. They are doing more than an ordinary day's work every day in the year. Life is richer, fuller, more interesting than it was at twenty-five. And since this is the case for them, does it not point to the fact that it might hold good for others, did we understand how it had been brought about.

The well-known writer, Mark Twain, is an illustration of this unconquerable youth. She is eighty-one years of age, or thereabouts, and, as everybody knows, has led a busy life. So that if she sat with folded hands now, it would seem only the expected thing for her to do.

But does she sit with folded hands? Those who know her well thus describe her day: "She rises at six-thirty, and does two hours' literary work before breakfast, four hours' work between breakfast and luncheon, and about two hours' more work in the afternoon. Then she does her hat and does club meetings, teas or other social affairs among her friends, perhaps addresses a gathering or two, and otherwise employs herself until she begins to think it is time to go to bed. Her weekly mail is more than a thousand letters and she keeps three secretaries busy and has innumerable club and charitable interests. She is a good deal younger than many a woman of thirty, though she is eighty-one."

Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, who died a short time ago, was another such woman. She was eighty-two when she passed away. A novel that went into a second edition within three weeks was written when she was eighty. She was the mother of seven children, and was left absolutely destitute after the Civil War. So extreme, in fact, was her need that she had to pawn jewelry to secure money for the very necessities of life. So her life after the war was a life of struggle and sacrifice. She was sixty-nine, and these last years of her life were full of those activities that most of us believe are only for youth.

There are many other well-known examples of an active and useful life long after the three-score and ten milestone has been passed. And if this is possible for some, why is it not possible for all? If they have some wonderful elixir of youth, can we not by studying their lives discover it?

But when we study their lives the only thing to note about them, that is not common to all as the years advance, is that these young-old people keep their minds employed and interested as the years slip by. In their mind, they never grow old. They are just as interested in people, in the affairs of the world, as they were at twenty. They never lose this interest. They never cease to keep their mind employed. Consequently in their mind they know nothing of age, for the world is now each morning. And it does seem that by keeping the mind young, they keep the body young, and so demonstrate the theory, which many today assert, that the life of the body enters it through the mind.

At any rate, their lives are tangible proof that it is possible to be active and interested and useful at eighty, if we so desire. And those of us who are looking forward to old age with dread, as the season when we must descend the hill into the shadows, should take heart of hope from these lives, make up our minds not to grow old, and follow this resolution with the practical work necessary—that of keeping mentally in touch and interested in all the big, helpful movements and life of the day.

DINNER STORIES

It was the polite Frenchman's first visit to a party in England and he was very anxious to do the right thing, so when the hostess advanced to welcome him he gallantly saluted the assembled lady with a hearty kiss. Unfortunately, her husband had been a witness of the occurrence, and at last he had obtained a speaking part. But it was only four words he had to say: "The queen has swooned." Quite simple! It was the first night, he had in-

"How dare you, sir, take the liberty of kissing my wife? And before me too!" was the indignant exclamation. "One thousand pardons!" exclaimed the polite foreigner. "I do not know your English customs. Next time I kiss you first!"

He was a long-locked tragedian.

visited his own particular pals to come and cheer him.
On he came and announced in a high-pitched voice:
"The queen has swooned!"
A roar of laughter greeted his words, but he was not daunted and he made another attempt.
"The queen has swooned!"
This time the house rocked with laughter, and the voice of the stage manager could be distinctly heard to say:
"Come off, you fool!"
The ambitious one refused to surrender, and had to be dragged off. Even as he reached the wings, however, he screamed out:
"The queen has swooned!"

"I told you that Nibbs was foolish to be courting so many girls."
"How did it turn out?"
"As you might expect, his expenses were so heavy that he got behind with his board and had to marry the landlady."

Mayor Spear, of Denver, at a recent temperance banquet was discussing a drink cure of little efficacy.
"When I think of this cure," he said, "I recall a poor old woman with a red nose who entered a magistrate's office and said:
"I'd like to take the pledge, if you please."
"Very good," said the police clerk. "And how long did you wish to take it for?"
"In the past," said the old woman, "I've always took it for life."

A gentleman called at a certain house in the country, and asked the servant, who officiated as cook also, if her master was in.
The cook departed in league of her mistress, and returned, saying, "No, he ain't in. Missus says he's gone to attend the meet."

The visitor departed. Going into the cooking region soon afterward, the mistress was horrified to find the charred remains of a leg of mutton, smelling and smoking away.

In great anger she summoned her domestic.
"What does this mean, Bridget?" she exclaimed.

"Pshaw, mum," was the confused reply. "I 'ard you say master had gone to attend the meet, an' so I didn't bother about it."

New Way to Make Apple Dumplings

Served With Hard Sauce or Cream and Sugar

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Here is a new way to make apple dumplings that will surely please every housewife, for it is not necessary to have whole apples, and the juice cannot run out and burn as with apple dumplings where the apple is placed in the center and the dough turned around it. The biscuit part forms a crispy shell that holds the apples and juice.

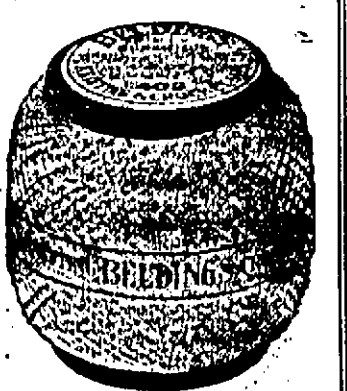

K-C Apple Dumplings
One and one-half cups sifted flour; 3/4 teaspoonful salt; 3 level teaspoonfuls K-C Baking Powder; 3/4 cup shortening; about 3/4 cup milk; apples.

Put the cups of a buttered muffin pan with pared and sliced apples, sprinkle with salt and turn two or three tablespoonfuls of water into each cup. Sift together, three times, the flour, salt and baking powder; work in the shortening, and mix to a soft dough with the milk. Drop the dough from a spoon with the apples in the cups, giving it a smooth exterior. Let bake about twenty-five minutes. Turn the pan on a large serving-dish. Put a spoonful of hard sauce above the apples in each dumpling and finish with a grating of nutmeg.

This is one of the many new, delicious and surprising recipes contained in the K-C Cook's Book, which may be obtained free by sending the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K-C Baking Powder to the Ludlow's, Inc., Chicago. Be sure to get the 25-cent size—smaller cans do not contain Cook's Book certificate.

TEACH DEAF PUPILS TO DANCE AND SING

Wonderful Results Accomplished at State School—Taught to Understand Conversation in Motion Pictures.

The understanding of much of the conversation carried on by characters shown in moving pictures, ability to dance in time with the music, and singing in unison are some of the accomplishments of the nearly 400 Wisconsin children enrolled in the oral schools for the deaf. A. J. Whittle, inspector of deaf schools, has just returned from a two weeks' trip to the twenty-one deaf schools. As a result of his trip to the schools, he is so impressed with the progress made by these children, handicapped by impediments, many cases found on his trip seemed to him extraordinary.

Lester Hropky of Oregon, Dane county, is one of the most adept deaf students in the state. He is an expert lip reader and conversation intelligently with all whom he meets. He is able to read much of the conversation of persons sitting several seats ahead of him in a car so careful has been his training. He is now attending the high school and obtaining grades as high as those students having no defects in speech. Miss Eva Hagan of Antigo is able to sing many popular songs and takes great delight in singing "America" with the other children in the regular grades.

The exceptional achievements of the deaf children in this state led Mr. Whittle to compile a history and handbook, to be issued shortly by the state superintendent, giving the history of all the deaf schools in the state from their inception in 1884, when Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the noted educator of the deaf and husband of a deaf woman, urged the Wisconsin legislature to establish a deaf school.

"Pupils taught lip reading in time become experts," says Mr. Whittle, "being able to understand what is said by watching the lips of the speaker. So expert do they become that some are able to understand to some extent conversation carried on by the characters shown in moving pictures."

In many of the schools pianos have become a part of the equipment. To a visitor it might appear singular to see a piano in a school for the deaf, but it does not seem so strange when one learns that the deaf gain much through their sense of vibration, if we may speak of such a sense. The teacher can attract the attention of a totally deaf child in any part of the room by tapping on the floor with her heel. When one plays on the piano, the vibrations of the instrument are transmitted through the floor, and through this medium to the pupil. The pupil is able to detect the time of the music, and with his eyes closed can beat the time with his hand. In many of the schools the pupils have been taught to dance and they thoroughly enjoy the rhythm of this form of exercise.

Many other drills and exercises are conducted by the aid of the piano. In some schools, children have been taught to sing, strange as it may appear to those unfamiliar with the deaf. While there is little harmony in the song, still the pronunciation of the words and the rhythmic qualities in conformity to the time of selection take on the form of a sort of a chant. The deaf seem to enjoy all these exercises, inasmuch as they realize that they are doing these things which their more fortunate brothers and sisters are able to do.

Mr. Whittle believes that as soon as the discovery is made after birth that a child is deaf, the parents should begin at once to train the child as if he were perfectly normal. In some respects the case of Lester Hropky, who was educated in the oral school in Madison, seems the most remarkable on record. He is able to hear his mother's voice, but cannot understand another's voice. There seems to be an unexplained harmony between her voice and himself.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

WIND.

By Howard L. Hann.

Wind is a combination of air currents which have the disagreeable habit of collecting in one spot and unrolling men, houses and other impediments. There is altogether too much wind in this country, particularly during the progress of a presidential campaign, when it is used to howl over the sucker-mouthed voter and encourage the propagation of crooked election tables. Wind is put in the packages of a also, some of which do not stand very high in the community. One of these is the hot wind, which sits down on the upturned face of the corn crop and destroys the complexion of the front lawn.

Another the north-easter, a very penetrating sample of projectile wind which breaks out of Canada hand in hand with a cold wave. Then there is the head wind, which assaults the citizens on the public highway, and relieves them of their equilibrium and nose glasses.

The cyclone is a disgusting form of aerial wind which is not molested by anybody who is satisfied with this fleeting life below. The tornado is a large splinter thrown out by the keywinding cyclone, and without venturing far from home without puncturing the nearest hot house with hailstones.

Wind is manufactured in a cave situated at Medicine bottle, and in legalized under the pure food act when distinctly labeled as the summer zephyr, the six-knot breeze and the wintry blast. It is also prescribed in other formulas, such as campaign oratory, newspaper editorials and the long-winded sermon.

There is quite a little wind disseminated in selling mining stock and writing up church weddings. A windfall is a piece of easy money inherited by somebody who wouldn't know the difference from a wax-work model of Hummel crossing the Alps in three jumps.

Wind has its place in the economy of nature, but there are times when nature could economize a little more than she does.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

When Memorial Day is forgotten. Sounds remote does it not? But is it so remote a possibility after all?

Of course it will not be while any of the survivors of '61 to '65 remain in the ranks, nor while their sons and daughters live to commemorate the day, but some day in the history of our country Memorial Day and Decoration Day will be known only as a custom of the past.

Well does the writer remember when on Memorial Day long processions of Grand Army men marched with strong tread on the 30th of May, each year, led by their own comrades with life and drum, the flag for which they fought and for which their comrades died, being proudly carried at the front by one of the boys in blue; when the master of ceremonies was a veteran of '61 and the orator one who had seen service for his country in those dark days.

But time has brought about changes. Where is the Grand Army of the past—the noble men who offered their lives in defense of "Old Glory"?

When May 30, 1912 comes you will see a very small number in line; a few will be ready if called upon to march in the procession, but how few the number? Most of their number have decorated the graves of their comrades graves for the last time and only a small and ever decreasing remnant of the vast Grand Army of the Republic survive to do honor to the fallen heroes.

In some of the larger cities quite a handful of the "Old Boys" are still to be found, but in the smaller towns hardly a Grand Army Post can now be found. Who are to carry on their work in the future on Memorial days?

A number of years ago an organization of the Sons of Veterans was effected for the purpose of perpetuating Memorial Day and in many places they are doing it well. Last year in the city of Madison, the work was turned over entirely to the camp of Sons of Veterans, who provided an excellent program held a very large street parade, provided flowers for all the graves, decorated the graves, fired the salute and made the day a memorial one in that city.

It is understood that in the future years the work will be done by them and so long as the organization stands it will be well done.

How about Janesville? With a population of nearly or quite 14,000, with a hundred or more sons and grandsons of the veterans of the war, the writer was surprised on coming to the city to realize to find that there was no camp organized here and for the purpose of stirring them up to do their duty along this line is the object of this article.

They have no right to be so disinterested in the perpetuation of the day set apart for Memorial Day and while it is too late perhaps to organize and take an active part in the service this year, it is nevertheless a good time right now to show their loyalty to their country's defenders by coming to the front at once and taking up the work they have so long neglected.

Sons of Veterans and grandsons are eligible to membership. The writer and his son are members of Madison Camp No. 1, and will stand ready to unite with eligible persons of Janesville in forming a camp, thus insuring for years to come a proper observance of Memorial Day.

If you are interested in the formation of a camp and are ready to help to organize one send your name and address to the Gazette office and as soon as a sufficient number are ready a deputy stands ready to come and effect an organization. Don't delay, who will be first?

VICTORIOUS CHRIST HEADS PROCESSION

Leads Multitude of Captives
From Death's Prison.

At Boston Pastor Russell Pictures the Release of Death's Prisoners and Shows From Scripture That in the Triumphal Procession Four Grades Will Participate.

Boston, Mass., May 19.—Pastor Russell spoke here today in the Boston Theatre. In one of his two discourses he used the following text: "When He ascended up on high, He led a multitude of captives."—Ephesians iv, 8.

This grand expression respecting the glorious outcome of the Savior's work is quoted by the Apostle Paul from the Psalms (xviii, 18). The figure thus thrust before our mental eye is that of a great Conqueror whose victory is being heralded. With the Romans we know that it was a custom that generals returning from war were granted what were termed "Triumphs"—or triumphal processions.

Let us permit our mental eye to feast upon the scene of our text. Jesus, in fulfillment of the Divine Program, had left the heavenly condition and descended to earth, taking a bondman's form or nature in order "that He, by the grace of God, might taste death for every man;" that He might rescue Adam and his race from the death condition—under Divine sentence and under the power of Satan.

Therefore, the Redeemer counted not His life precious to Him, but freely delivered Himself up, and died, "the Just for the unjust," that He might bring mankind back into harmony with God. His humiliation ended in death, but His triumph began when God raised Him from the dead by His own power, and set Him at the right hand of His own Majesty—"far above angels, principalities and powers and every name that is named."

Leading Forth the Captives. With most conquerors, in olden times, the captives were made slaves. Not so, however, will be the result of Jesus' victory. First of all in the procession are the saints—"the Church of the First-born." Then will come a company, more numerous, but less heroic—"a great multitude," uncrowned, but with "palm branches," not antitypical Priests, but antitypical Levites, associates and servants of the Royal Priesthood, the Bride.

Then will follow (Hebrews xi, 38-40) other faithful ones of the past, the Ancient Worthies. The Prophet speaks also of the "rebellious house." The classes previously specified were not rebellious, but gladly and willingly took all to do the will of the Father and to attain the liberty of sons of God, as the first-fruits of the triumph of the Lamb.

But during the thousand years of Christ's reign He will lead forth the "rebellious house"—the world of mankind—not all of them, we may be sure, for some, the Scriptures positively declare, will die the Second Death, because, after realizing their deliverance, they will love sin and will therefore be destroyed as enemies of God.

"He Gave Gifts Unto Men." In this prophetic reference to our Lord's ascension it is declared, not only that He would lead forth a multitude of captives, granting them freedom, liberty, blessings, but also that He would confer gifts.

The Apostle proceeds to explain the matter and tells us what gifts are meant. He says, "And He gave some Apostles, and some prophets, and some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers." It behooves us to notice that the Apostle does not intimate that Jesus gave to some Methodists, to others Presbyterians, and to others Roman Catholics, etc. No, when we hold such thoughts it was because we failed to see, first, that there is but the "one Church of the Living God, whose names are written in heaven," and second, that that one Church is not any of the various sects and parties, but includes the saintly in all of these. "For the Lord knoweth them that are His."

Noting carefully the Apostle's argument we perceive that the Master did not give these gifts for the conversion of the world. He does specify, however, what they were for, namely, "for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the Body of Christ"—the Church, the Bride. Is it supposable that the Apostle erred in this statement and that the fact is the reverse—that these gifts were provided for the conversion of the world, and that the Apostle thoroughly misunderstood the matter? Not. We are to be taught by the Apostle, and may be sure that there is no mistake.

The Lord from time to time has raised up evangelists, pastors and teachers for this glorious service of preparing the "chaste virgin," the Church, to be the Bride in glory, but the Apostolic office, as represented in The Twelve, specially provided by the Father, has continued and needs no replenishment. We still have their instructions as fully as the early Church, "that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto every good work."

Slight, indeed. The blind chaplain remarked: "If all the world were blind what a wretchedly slight it would be."

Truthfulness. Matt. v:33-37; Jas. iii:12; v:12.

Golden Text—Putting away falsehood, speak ye truth each man with his neighbor, for we are members one of another. Eph. iv:25.

(1) Verses 33-36—What is the Old Testament law concerning oaths? (See Ex. xxii; Lev. xix:12; Num. xxx:2; Deut. v:11.)

(2) What right had Jesus to change any Bible law?

(3) Why are not judgments on this wrong under this new law laid down by Jesus?

(4) What are the evils of the common oaths of conversation?

(5) Many men take God's name in vain habitually without any thought of God. What is the moral quality of such a habit?

(6) Does it or not, and why, add force to a man's statement if it is backed up by strong language in any way resembling swearing?

(7) Verse 37—What rule should we adopt as to the use of words in buying or selling?

(8) What does Jesus actually mean by "let your communication be yea, yea; nay, nay?" (See Matt. xii:34-37.)

(9) According to the thought of Jesus here expressed, what evil does using many words tend to?

(10) Jas. iii:12—Of two persons, one very talkative and the other careful in speech, which is likely to be the more truthful, and why?

(11) What are the attending evils of untruthfulness?

(12) Is an untruth ever justifiable? Give your reasons.

(13) What responsibilities do "masters" or teachers take upon them more than others?

(14) Verses 34-36—If a man never offends in word, in what other way is he liable to offend?

(15) If a man controls his tongue, does he thereby control his entire nature? Why?

(16) What evil and what good can the tongue do?

(17) What power is it that causes the wrangling of an evil tongue?

(18) Verses 7-10—What is the only power which can turn an evil tongue into a good one?

(19) Why is it that the same tongue sometimes curses and at other times blesses?

(20) Verses 11-12—If a person's tongue is vile, is it or not, and why, possible for that person at the same time to be the reconciled child of God?

(21) Will a true Christian ever speak evil of a neighbor or tell an untruth? Give your reason. (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(22) Jas. v:12—When a man swears to back up a statement, what is the effect upon himself, and how is he generally regarded by those to whom he is speaking and by God?

BECAUSE SHE'S GOOD PENMAN, INDIANA. GIRL NOW CLAIMS COWBOY FOR HUSBAND

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Wallin.

Just because she's a better penman than most other girls, Mrs. Robert C. Wallin, until very recently Miss Marie Bleeth, of Maletts Park, near Indianapolis, now claims a broody, handsome, western cowboy for a husband. A year ago Miss Bleeth wrote her name on a car of grain at Morristown, Ind. In due course the car reached Oklahoma, and came within the view of Robert C. Wallin, a lonely cowboy. There were other girls' names on the car, but the beautiful writing of Miss Bleeth captivated him. He wrote her a letter, she replied. They corresponded, and finally he proposed. She accepted and a very happy marriage was recently celebrated at Maletts Park. The young couple will return to Oklahoma to live.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

THE TREADMILL AS A PUNISHMENT.

By A. W. MACY.

The treadmill is a Chinese invention, but in 1818 William Cubitt of England adapted the idea in making a machine for employing prisoners usefully. It was widely adopted and extensively used for some years in the English prisons. In 1823 the Society for the Improvement of Discipline in Prisons published a book with elaborate illustrations describing the treadmill and setting forth its advantages as a medium of prison discipline. At first the prisoners were required to tread the mill nine hours a day, which meant a climb of about 12,000 feet. This was found too severe, and the hours were reduced to six and the climb to about 8,000 feet a day. The power thus generated was usually employed in grinding corn, drawing water, etc. Public opinion has gradually brought about the abandonment of the treadmill as a punishment for prisoners. In 1895 there were thirty-nine still in use in English prisons; in 1901 only thirteen, and there are none at present. This form of administering discipline to prisoners was never introduced in this country.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

WHO KILLED HIM?

My friend "killed himself." He was a coward?

Yes and no. When he was at himself he was brave enough and strong enough, but he brooded over his sorrows until he was not at himself.

This is his story: For many years he had given his life to an institution. In the early days when the business could fill or afford sufficient clerical help he often did the work of two and even three men.

He stood by the staff. The business grew large and prosperous, and the men who labored with him in its establishment had died. The younger generation, when it came into the management, forgot, if it ever knew, the labors and sacrifices of my friend. Besides, the younger men wanted place for a friend.

The old man was let out. Which broke his heart.

He was not of the sort to wear his heart on his sleeve. He tried to keep a stiff upper lip. At the same time it was apparent to those who knew him well that his dismissal from the old place—sugar coated under the auspicious guise of "resignation"—was a mortal blow.

He tried another line of business, but it is not easy to learn a new business when you are old.

He did not succeed in his new venture because he was mortally wounded. The job was too heavy. He could not right himself. His mind became warped. In a fit of insane morbidness he ended it all.

Now, there is more than one way to kill a man.

From the day when he was turned out like an old horse to die or to linger superfluous he was smitten in the heart.

When those directors squeezed him out they did not realize. Corporations have small gratitude for the past labors of a faithful worker who has borne the heat and burden of the day.

Flesh and blood are cheap. And dollars are dear.

You say a corporation has no soul? It should have a soul made up of the composite souls of those who direct it.

Should it satisfy the individual soul of a director that, as a director, he may have helped to push a fellow mortal over the verge?

Her Broken Promise. "Joe, I've begun to think my wife does not tell the truth."

"Why so, Bill?"

"Well, she threatens every week to go back to her mother, but she never goes."—Boston Advertiser.

Truth in Russian Proverb. There is an old Russian proverb which says: "A secret is only a secret when one person knows it." This proverb is well worth remembering.

The Epicures. An eminent man who is a strict abstainer from both wine and animal food is obliged, in consequence of this peculiarity, to refrain from dining out. He entertains, however, an occasional kindred spirit. One such was recently at his table. More Bread Eaten in Cold Weather. According to bakers, people eat 20 per cent. more bread when the weather is cold than when it is mild.

On the Wedding Journey. She—Otto, I don't believe that true love waits for a tunnel.—Transatlantic Tales.

Parts Prices are Taxes— Get Them Low

Now—before you buy a car—find out what repair parts will cost you.

Parts prices are your taxes. They come to every owner and they will come to you. But you can get them low, if you will.

Most manufacturers take for granted you won't think of this before you buy a car. Then they've got you. But Studebaker says, "Find out now." Because the Studebaker maxim is—a square deal for every owner.

We guarantee E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars four times as long as most manufacturers, and then sell you parts at prices lower proportionately than any other manufacturer in the world.

YOU consider yourself a sensible man; and very likely your friends and neighbors are willing to take you at your own estimate, unless you do something to prove the contrary.

NOW be sensible about this matter of buying clothes.

You are probably not a judge of fabrics; you don't pretend that you can tell all-wool from part cotton; you don't pretend that you can judge of tailoring, to know if it is well done, and will "hold up" in the wear.

You do know the color and pattern that suits you; you know the style you like; and you can tell—or your friends can—if the clothes fit. What you ought to do in the things you can't judge for yourself is to take somebody's word for them.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

name in a garment answers every question of quality; and we give you our guarantee with that. You want all-wool and fine tailoring because they represent value that you can see.

For all the rest of it—pattern, color, weave, style, fit—we'll leave it entirely to you; they're the best clothes made and we want you to see and wear them. $18, $20, $25, $28, $30.

Young men's clothes here have a striking and distinctive character of their own; there's nothing commonplace about them in style, in weave, in model; they have the individuality which is a touch of genius; smart, breezy young styles, designed for young men. Exceptional values at $15, $18, $20, $25.

Boys' suits with extra knickers are a special feature here; mothers appreciate that point. Plain or Norfolk styles, blue serges, brown and gray weaves; fabrics selected for tough service. Twenty per cent more value at twenty per cent less. All ages to 18; $5.00, $6.50, $7.50, $9.00.

For your summer supply of shirts you want Wilson Bros.; fine madras, silk and linen, all silk; great values from $1.50 up. Summer underwear, Lewis Bros., and other good makes, two-piece or unions, at 50c up. Summer neckwear of every degree.

He—Well, I've never been in the pen.

The man who has a bundle finds himself in the air; the knowledge of his fund'll precede him everywhere, and every blooming maiden will at ways treat him nice, the man with guileless laden, the man who has the price. And monnaies may think that our last for gold, and say it is a blunder, the first man to uphold: his shiny adoration of gold and all you see is threatening the nation, demoralizing men. Though he's abused in some and caused from pole to pole, we always doff our bonnets to him who has the roll. I rather like the fellow who often the deftly swears at sinful, the helpful get-rich-quick and multi-millionaire; for wealth that is a blessing when moderate it seems, becomes a thing distressing when carried to extremes. Oh, we are surely wiser when we our life uplift, not to the sordid miser, or his to the man of the thrift; and like a silly farce seem only things we say of him who has a parcel of bundle put away.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, May 24, 1872.—Decorations Day: A meeting was held this morning at the Y. M. C. hall for the purpose of taking the preliminary steps toward the observance of Decoration day. The meeting was organized by calling Mayor Sutherland to the chair and appointing W. S. Bowen secretary. On motion the following general committee was appointed: Captain S. J. M. Putnam, Captain William Raker, Col. William Britton, Dr. J. B. Whiting, Dr. J. W. St. John, Col. H. C. McHenry, Hon. James Sutherland, Capt. C. W. Stark, Capt. H. A. Smith, C. L. Valenfin, W. S. Brief Items.
The druggists of this city have been notified that they will not be permitted to sell liquor without a city license.

The game of youthful vagrants who annoy our citizens with their depredations made a descent upon the lamp kept burning in the hall of Laphin's block night before last and carried it away. Some night these fellows will get caught at their tricks and made to suffer.

The Way We Do It: Larger cities than Janesville would find it a matter of economy to follow our example, in some respects, in the management of their fire departments. For instance, procure stables at some distance from the engine houses, undress the horses nights and let them rest, like other folks. Also allow the drivers to go home and sleep. If this plan causes a little delay on the breaking out of a fire, certainly refreshing slumber will enable all concerned to make better time after they get started.

HOW TRUE.

Wish that I had money,
I would take a trip abroad,
And look upon the wonders
That the tourists always laud.
And another traveler.

Then after I had visited
Most every port and isle,
I'd come back to America
And see some things worth while.

Bachelors in Distress.

The bachelors of an unpronounceable town in Hungary called Nagy-parkata are holding meetings of distress and indignation. The town council at its last sitting unanimously voted that every unmarried man over the age of twenty-four must pay an annual tax. The thing is to be upon a sliding scale, poor bachelors having to pay but 40 cents and the wealthier ones as high as $20. As soon as enough has been collected from the matrimonial delinquents a well-equipped home is going to be built in the town for the education and maintenance of homeless children. The tax, it is thought, will be ample to keep up the institution without other aid, and the town council is well satisfied with its new enactment.

Washed Away the Hills.

In building both Seattle and Portland it was necessary to remove from the face of the earth several sizable hills. This work was done, for the most part, by hydraulic power. That is, the hills, composed mostly of dirt, were washed away by powerful streams of water. At Portland, Ore., electrical power, driving huge centrifugal pumps, lifted water from Gullies lake 400 feet uphill and hurled it through 4½-inch nozzles against the great piles of dirt and gravel. In this way the hills were washed away much quicker and cheaper than they could be cut up and carted away with steam shovels and dirt trains.

Not to Be Blamed.

"That man seems to be a regular iconoclast. Nothing is sacred to him." "Well, you can hardly blame him. When he was a boy, he was badly goaled by a sacred cow in a circus."

Miss Edna Ellerbe.

There are many charming and the prettiest and most popular girls at Washington from below Mason and Dixon's line is Miss Edna Ellerbe, daughter of Congressman Ellerbe, of South Carolina.

BROADWAY HEARS ETHEL KELLY WILL MARRY ADOLPHUS BUSCH; NO DENIAL

Ethel Kelly.

There is a persistent rumor on Broadway that Miss Ethel Kelly, the actress, is soon to become the wife of Adolphus Busch, son of the wealthy St. Louis brewer. Miss Kelly refuses either to affirm or deny the report, but admits that Mr. Busch "figures prominently on her list."

Men Who Helped to Make America

General St. Clair

ARTHUR ST. CLAIR, one of the patriotic fighters in the American Revolution, was a Scotchman. He was born in 1734, at Thurso, in Caithness. St. Clair's father was a younger son of a famous family, and died in early manhood from evil effects of high living. His mother was the boy's guiding influence. She sent him first to Edinburgh University and then to Dr. William Hunter, of London, for a medical education. But medicine was not so much to his liking as military life. His mother died while he was still indentured to Dr. Hunter. The young man purchased his release with the money inherited on his mother's death and obtained an ensign's commission. He served with General Wolfe in the campaign which resulted in the capture of Quebec. After the war he settled in America and married Phoebe Bayard, a kinswoman of Governor Bowdoin, of Massachusetts. In December, 1778, John Hancock, President of the American Continental Congress, made him a colonel. He gave up home and fortune for the patriotic cause. His services in the Revolution were valuable. After the war he found himself ruined financially. He sat in Congress, became Governor of the Northwest Territory and fought the Indians. He died August 12, 1814.

ARTHUR ST. CLAIR

Love and Grammar.
Some time ago a New York business man, who is blessed with an extremely pretty daughter, took his family to England for an indefinite period, during which he was to establish British branches of his mercantile enterprises in that country. The charms of this young woman wrought much havoc in the rank and file of the men who met her abroad. She was sweet and gracious to all, but her heart, as well as her wit, belonged to her native land. One day her father found her at her desk, knitting her brows over a letter. "What's the trouble, my dear?" he asked solicitously. "Father," she responded dolefully, "I must write another declaration, but nothing will induce me to conjugate until I get back to the United States." —Lippincott's.

The First Iron Ship.
The first iron ship was launched 120 years ago, in England, by John Wilkinson. The idea of building a large iron boat was laughed at, people arguing that it was against nature to expect iron to float on water.

A Remedy No Family Should Do Without

No matter how healthy a human being may be it is safe to say that not many months are passed without some obstruction of the bowels in other words constipation even if only temporary. The bloating, the dull feeling may start after the evening meal. If a laxative is not taken that night it is certain that sleep will not be sound, and you will awaken refreshed. Hence, it is important for you and for all the members of your family that a good, reliable laxative be always kept in the house for just such emergency. It is sure to be needed, and when needed you want it at hand. No family that is careful of its health can do without such a remedy. But the question of which remedy to have on hand is also of vast importance. The laxative most highly recommended by the majority of intelligent Americans as being best for babies and grownups is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a liquid laxative—tender, mild, and never grips, is effective on robust people and can be given with safety to an infant. Children like it because of its gentle qualities and because it is pleasant to the taste. It is the best all-around remedy you can have in the house for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, and many people like Mr. O. H. Galvin, Manston, Wis., and Lester St. Clair, Wausau Wis., say they would as soon be without the necessity as without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

At the top, Governor Hay, of Washington, and Governor West, of Oregon; Governor Vessey, of South Dakota, at the bottom.

How to check the flow of American emigration to Canada will be earnestly discussed at Seattle, July 5 to 8. A joint proclamation, signed by the governors of seven northwestern states—Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon—has been issued urging the people of the northwest to be present at a conference to be held at the Washington capital on the above mentioned date. The conference is to plan a campaign and suggest legislation which will assist the northwestern states in more rapid development, and stem the tide of emigration from this country to the Canadian northwest.
